COLIN ANGLE TO SUCCEED HELEN GREINER AS CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD OF IROBOT

Greiner to Remain on Board of Directors

Bedford, Mass., October 22, 2008 — iRobot Corp. (Nasdaq: IRBT) today announced that Helen Greiner has resigned as chairman of the board of iRobot, effective October 24, 2008. The board of directors has elected Colin Angle to serve as chairman of the board in addition to his current role as chief executive officer of iRobot. Helen will continue to serve on iRobot's board of directors as a non-employee director while pursuing other interests and opportunities within the robot industry.

"Since co-founding iRobot in 1990, Helen has been an integral part of the company and played a large role in our success," said Angle. "We are fortunate that she will maintain a position on our board of directors as she continues to drive the robot industry forward."

"I will remain close to the company through my work on the board," said Greiner. "I am excited about where the robot industry is going and how I can help shape the future through individual endeavors, work with the Robotics Technology Consortium, Massachusetts Robotics Cluster and the various boards on which I serve."

"Helen's knowledge of the robot industry is surpassed only by her passion for its growth. We appreciate all of her hard work and dedication to iRobot and look forward to her continued contribution as a member of the board," said The Honorable Jacques Gansler, PhD, an iRobot board member. "Colin Angle was the board's unanimous choice in succeeding Helen."
